

SMALLMEDIUMLARGE is a series of lectures that will examine the impact that graduates of the University of Washington Department of Architecture have on the built environment of the region. The subject of each lecture will be a single building type associated with a particular scale of architectural intervention.

The first lecture in the series, SMALL 4 HOUSES, will feature the Columbia City Live Aboves by Arellano | Christofides Architects, the Wood Block Residence by chadbourne + doss architects, the North Beach House by Heliotrope Architects and the House on a Steep Hill by Hutchison + Maul Architecture. A presentation of each project by the architects will be followed by a short moderated discussion.
